More About the New Hospital-Weddings-Grammar School Graduating Exercises Today.

The new Johnson memorial hospital, o fwhich the corner stone was laid Saturday, as told in Monday's Bulle-Saturday, as told in Monday's Bulletin, will cost when all equipped from $60,000 to $75,000. It will be an imposing structure of brick and granite and will be two stories above the basement. As said by Rev. Charles H. Puffer in his address Saturday afternoon, it will be the most serviceable of which the corner stone was laid will accommodate from 35 to 46 patients and will be arranged in an up to date manner, from a scientific and sanitary point of view. The hospital is approached from East street, and is about 100 feet back from the street. The basement is of granite, and granite steps will lead to the main entrance. There will be broad verandas on each end for use of convalescents. A barn 30 by 40 feet has been erected on the west end of the property facing the highway, and will be used for the ambulance.

The hospital is to be presented to the town of Stafford by Cyril and Ju-lia Johnson, and it will be handsomely The trowel which was used in laying the corner stone Saturday has been presented to Mr. Johnson.

· FOETAY.

HERE'S ANOTHER CHANCE We've foodstuffs made of wheat and Of oats and hay and bran,
Delightful schemes are daily born
To tense the taste of man;
But though there's plenty such these
For mornings, hights and noons,
Nobody's made our testes to clause.
A neat disguise for pruges.

We read not on the printed sheet,
"Prunettes for those who work?"
"Prunessence for the babe to est"
"Pruneatem—tell the clerk,"
"Tis shredded prunes that make men "Rolled prunes for pape's boy"
r, "Try a can of awest Prunile,
The pancake cater's joy"

We read not, "Prunz so much contains
Of certain elements,
One pound will fill two dozen brains
With first class common sense."
We read not, "Prunzbeildes make
The heart to beat aright."
Or that "Prunzees cure stomach sche
And help you sleep at night."

Why doesn't some inventive chap
Set swift the task about
Of giving life new zest and snap—
And help landladies out?
How would the bourders all elate.
Sing loud to divers times.
If but some genius would create
New appetite for prunes:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

"Boys, will be boys," they tell us,
These kindly souls who think
That every boy
Ls an unmixed loy,
And can't get on the blink.
No matter though the youngsteen
May drive us crazy blind,
With tearful even
Somebody cries:
"Boys will be boys, Be kinds

All over this big city
The boys by thousands run
Regarding nonght
Of what they ought.
So long as they have "fun"
No laws regarded, they
Bang in and out,
And cruise about
Along the boodium way.

"Boys will be boys." they tall as.
These foolish friends who hate
To check the Joys.
Of thoughtless boys.
Until it is too late.
These boys are quickly growing.
Around us everywhere.
And as they grow.
Fool friends should know.
Boys will be men. Beware.

The great feature picture of today is the strongly dramatic number entitled The Still Alarm. In this picture occurs one of the finest fire scenes ever projected upon the screen, showing the villain cutting the wires running into the engine house, and telephone message giving the still alarm, to waich the entire department responds. A large block is on fire, and calls for the assistance of the big steamer, which is started running and steamer, which is started running and with the assistance of the aerial water tower finally extinguishes the flames. The fire is the real thing, and falling pimbers glowing with fire bespeak the genuine character of the
